Cutting Down Tree on Central Avenue—Funeral of Moses R. Porte-lance—Personal.

Monday afternoon Tres Warden Henry Davis started to remove one of the large elms on Central avenue near Fifth street. The tree was killed during the summer of 1916 by a lightning from the gas main. Residents of the block protested but nothing was done to repair the break which was slight and the tree old and slowly died. At the time there was some bitterness over the apparent neglect and this has been brought to the again by the death of the tree.
Warden Davis has also removed a large elm from the yard of P. F.
Bray on Central avenue.

FUNERAL

Moses R. Portelance.
The funeral of Moses R. Porte-lance was held Monday morning from his late home at 109 Central avenue.
There was a large attendance including relatives from Washington, D.
C., New York, Worcester, Bridgeport, Wilmington, Hartford and New London. There was a delegation from Court Sochem, F. of A., of which the deceased was a charter member.
There were many handsome pieces of flowers arranged about the casket.
The bearers were four sons, Joseph R., Frederic R., Louis and Edmond Portelance, and two nephews, Oliver R. and Joseph Portelance, of Worcester. The remains were conveyed to St. Mary's church, where a Mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock. The Mass was read by Rev. Philip L. Macdonald, pastor. The service was conducted by Rev. William H. Kennedy was sub-deacon. The choir rendered several selections accompanied by Miss Lena C. C. At the close of the service the mass Miss Josephine Lavalley rendered Jesus Lover of My Soul. As the body was being carried out of the church the choir rendered Nearer, My God to Thee. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, where Father Fitzmaurice read a committal service at the grave.
Undertaker M. Hourigan had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Cardinals Accept Challenge.

The Greenville Cardinals through their manager, "Red" Tinley, have accepted the challenge of the Demon Five of Taftville, for a basketball game and would like to meet them in Parish hall, Taftville, Saturday, December 8th. The Cardinals new suits arrived Wednesday so that when they take the floor against the Y. M. H. A. in the Y. M.
C. A. gym Thanksgiving night they will be distinguished by emerald green jerseys with a diagonal cardinal stripe. Their line-up will probably be Tinley left forward, C. Poole left guard, A. Goble center, P. Williams right guard and Finlanson right forward.

Tigers Defeat All-Irish.

Sunday afternoon the Greenville Tigers defeated the All-Irish of New London by the score of 24-0. The Tigers played a fast game, placing a great deal of dependence in the forward pass. The Greenville backfield also broke through the New London team's line for several long gains.
The game was one of the best played games seen on the Park gridiron in some time.

Kickers Won.

Sunday afternoon the Greenville Kickers defeated the Preston Highlanders on Spicer's grounds in Preston by the score of 6-0. The Greenville team's score came as the result of a brilliant run by George Swanton.

Personals and Notes.

There are 64 young men of St.
Mary's parish in the service of the government in the various arms of the service.
Miss Margaret S. Lynch of Hartford has returned to her home, after spending a few days with friends on Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald R. Gilchrist left for Stamford, Monday, after spending Sunday at Mr. Gil-christ's home on Prospect street.

A month's mind mass for the late Joseph Gilchrist, requested by the Holy Name Society was offered at St.
Mary's church Monday morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. William H. Kennedy.

INFORMAL RECEPTION AT PINEHURST

Mrs. Charles W. Gale Entertains in Honor of Guest From India—Dressed in Native Garb Mrs. W. T. Elmore Tells of Life in the Far East.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Charles W. Gale held an informal reception at her home to meet Mrs. W. T. Elmore of India. Mrs. Elmore, dressed in the native garb of a high-caste Hindu woman, spoke of the life of the Indian woman and the influence of her religion on that life. She spoke of the lives common to all natives and of the great difficulty of native Indians about the prevailing fifth as all the streams and pools of water are not to be approached save by certain routes.
Mrs. Elmore dealt more particularly, however, with the life of the high caste woman.
In describing a reception given by an Indian queen she told many interesting and picturesque incidents. The invitation, which is of the native style, is brought with great pomp and ceremony. The palace was a wonder of beauty, the mirrored walls, paneled with jewels, reflected back the myrriads of light. The windows were hung with hand-woven tapestries and in the music rooms were pianos and harps.
The scent of jasmine and roses permeated the air. The queen, magnificently robed in pink silk, embroidered with jewels, wore a turban set with em-eralds and one and one-half inches in size, encircled by three rows of diamonds, valued at seven million dollars. In her dark braids were twined strings of pearls. And she herself was gracious and lovely. Mrs. Elmore in talking with some of the native women in the garden observed the change in dress and mind of the younger generation. They are beginning to desire to be more like their western sisters.

They seem in many ways to be most highly civilized. They are cultivated and refined and have a high sense of honor. They are, however, hopelessly inaccurate. Their books on history, geography and physiology are a mass of inaccuracies.
Their mode of life also has developed no sense of delicacy as the western mind conceives it.
Mrs. Elmore spoke of the terrible condition of child marriage and the necessity for every woman in the world to help these Indian women.
We should know how all the world lives and endeavor to ameliorate the sufferings and misunderstandings of less enlightened peoples. We are brothers and sisters of one blood.
The Indian people are intensely religious. Their lives are governed almost entirely by religion. They have an interminable number of rules by which to govern their daily life. But their religion is not that of Jesus Christ.

After Mrs. Elmore's talk, which her gracious and charming personality made more than ordinarily interesting and appealing, she, with Mrs. Gale, Mrs. Purkiss and Miss Grace T. Colburn, who is home secretary of the Norwich district of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission society, received the guests informally, affording them the opportunity of talking personally of the facts presented in the afternoon. Mrs. El-more's costume was a beautiful blue robe bordered with gold and red, set to match and bracelets and chain of gold.
Mrs. Gale wore the modified robe of a Parsee woman with slippers and necklace of a Mohammedan woman.
Tea was served, Mrs. Leonard O.
Smith and Mrs. Carl W. Brown pouring.

CARD OF THANKS

When we were called upon to take final parting from a beloved and devoted husband and father, the person of Moses R. Portelance, many relatives and friends proved they possessed a God Satisfactory and tried in many ways to make our great afflic-tion seem easier to bear. Each and every act was appreciated and will linger in our memories while life endures. We feel especially grateful to those who sent floral offerings.
